No Mystery About Them.

Persons are fond of sliding to the picturesque tradition that pearls are made from the dew of heaven, but the fact of the matter is that those milky lumps just merely represent the efforts of the oyster to cover up an annoying grain of sand and render it less irritating.

JOINT DEBATE AT CHAUTAUQUA

Great American Leaders to Discuss Gov't Ownership of Railroads.

EVENT OF THE FOURTH NIGHT

Dr. Charles Zueblin Will Take the Affirmative Side and Hon. Leslie M. Shaw the Negative.

Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury in the cabinet of President Roosevelt and twice governor of Iowa, will debate on the fourth night of the coming Redpath Chautauqua with Charles Zueblin, well-known writer and lecturer on national and international problems, the great subject of Government Ownership of Railroads. Mr. Zueblin will speak for government ownership and Mr. Shaw will take the negative side.

Everyone is thinking of the course the United States is to pursue with the railroads. The people must decide this great question and in putting on this debate the Redpath is fulfilling the high mission of the Chautauqua as a public forum for the free discussion of great problems.

The speakers in the debate have been chosen by the Chautauqua management for their comprehensive expert knowledge of the entire matter and also their ability as public speakers. Mr. Shaw and Mr. Zueblin will discuss the question from every angle in an authoritative manner and then having heard both sides of the question, people will be more able to arrive at a just and fair conclusion on this important problem.

Mr. Shaw is known as one of the leaders of conservative thought in financial and governmental spheres. Not only was he secretary of the treasury under Roosevelt and governor of Iowa but he has been president of two great banking institutions, the Carnegie Trust Co. of New York and the First Mortgage Guarantee & Trust Co. of Philadelphia. In 1908 he was made permanent chairman of the International Monetary Commission.

Dr. Charles Zueblin.

Mr. Shaw brings to his discussion of the negative side of the question of government ownership of railroads a life-long experience as a successful business man, a keen-thinking lawyer and an accomplished speaker. He will admirably state the case of those who believe that government has no place in conducting the railroads.

Charles Zueblin has studied national and international problems all his life. He is known as an effective and eloquent exponent of democracy in the broad sense of that word. To him democracy means the life of all by the co-operation of all for the welfare of all.

For sixteen years he was a member of the University of Chicago Extension staff, lecturing on civic and moral questions. He is the author of a number of books on social problems, among them being "Democracy and the Overman," "The Religion of a Democrat," "American Municipal Progress."

One Good Sign.

Jack had just entered the fifth grade. His former teacher of the fourth grade met him one day and asked him how his present teacher liked his class. "I guess she likes us all right," he said, "for she hasn't taken the smile off her face yet."

Get the Habit.

The habit of viewing things cheerfully, and of thinking about life hopefully, may be made to grow up in us like any other habit.—Samuel Smiles.

The Zuyder Zee.
The Zuyder zee, or Southern sea, was formerly a lake surrounded by marshes. Its present extent being the result of floods in the thirteenth century. Its area is about 2,000 square miles, and the average depth from 10 to 19 feet. The Hollanders have reclaimed a million acres from sea, lake and river since the sixteenth century.

The Camel's Swiftiness.

Everyone has heard of the swiftness of the dromedary, that on his native sands he can travel faster than an Arab horse. There is a picturesque Eastern proverb which declares: "When thou shalt meet a camel and say to the rider, good morning, before he shall have answered, he will be far off and out of sight, for the camel's swiftness is like the wind."
